

Szczęśliwego Nowego Dworu!

Hello!

I am very glad that I see you in the Modlin Fortress! I came here from a distant, cold land nearly 100 years ago with the Polish soldiers. I went through lots of adventures with them! I even had the opportunity to salute to Marshall Józef Piłsudski. My story was written down by one of my companions - Eugeniusz Mataczewski. Now I invite you to my special trail. Here you will find the clues and the map. Your task is to find small, white teddy bears. I warn you, they have hidden very carefully. Can you take the challenge? By the way, I'll show you around the Modlin Fortress. It is much older than me. The order to build it was given at the beginning of the nineteenth century by Napoleon Bonaparte. Did you know that the Modlin Fortress is the place where the longest building in Europe is?! I'll show it to you, and much more.

Let's start!

At a huge casino, among the trees. When you will search, you will find, not only me but the point where about the Fortress a few words will tell you nice Mister or even nicer Miss.

Where else?
Behind a large monument with a stone guard the yellow trail and on a tree sign. And by the clearing up the hill and to the right. In the same color building and trail.

Behind the commander shelter on the red trail I sat for a moment on the grass. I look at the road, you will find me soon. Hop-Hop, I'm here, I'm sitting at the gate.

Where else?
Asphalt road leads up the hill, and the figure you pass on the right in a moment the blue trail will tell you where among the trees I stand. Red with blue jointly, as a couple, lead.

Through the park and along the barracks, where the trail heads. Here, far away, behind the tsar blocks you will find a building in a horseshoe shape.

Where else?

Next let your feet guide you alone. At the intersection of „K” and „S.” go off the blue one, and bravely enter the gate. Guess who is in the garden.

Two steps away, near the chimney of the building where the soldiers were washing their clothes. Today, the hotel that a castle resembles. You can eat here lunch or breakfast.

Where else?

Behind the gate according to the blue one. To a place where the asphalt turns into a pavement. Behind a long building, which is not of brick.

I lay in the grass, you will find me quick. Tram Tramp! Where Sunday morning bells give sign to the believers, I sat for a while at the window. This is where leads my path.

Where else?

Further, it's easy to lose the internal way. Here on the left is the garage, it's pretty close. Peeking every now and then to the right. At the building, low I can be found.

Nearby the pastry – there I will await you. I got tired and look for a place to rest. While looking for the road ask an inhabitant where you can eat good ice cream and cake. Here you'll find me.

Check how to get.
